First Sunday of Advent Year C

Entrance Antiphon

Cf. Ps 24:1-3

To you, I lift up my soul, O my God.

In you, I have trusted; let me not be put to shame.

Nor let my enemies exult over me;

and let none who hope in you be put to shame.

First Reading

Jer 33:14-16

A reading from the prophet Jeremiah

I will cause a good seed to spring forth from David.

See, the days are coming – it is the Lord who speaks – when I am going to fulfil the promise I made to the House of Israel and the House of Judah:

‘In those days and at that time,

I will make a virtuous Branch grow for David, who shall practise honesty and integrity in the land.

In those days Judah shall be saved and Israel shall dwell in confidence.

And this is the name the city will be called:

The Lord-our-integrity.’

Responsorial Psalm Ps 24:4-5. 8-9. 10. 14. R. v.1

(R.) To you, O Lord, I lift my soul.

Second Reading

1 Thes 3:12 – 4:2

A reading from first letter of St Paul to the Thessalonians

When Christ comes may he strengthen your hearts in holiness.

May the Lord be generous in increasing your love and make you love one another and the whole human race as much as we love you. And may he so confirm your hearts in holiness that you may be blameless in the sight of our God and Father when our Lord Jesus Christ comes with all his saints.

Finally, brothers, we urge you and appeal to you in the Lord Jesus to make more and more progress in the kind of life that you are meant to live: the life that God wants, as you learnt from us, and as you are already living it. You have not forgotten the instructions we gave you on the authority of the Lord Jesus.

Gospel Acclamation

Ps 84:8

Alleluia, alleluia!

Lord, show us your mercy and love,
and grant us your salvation.

Alleluia!

Gospel

Lk 21:25-28. 34-36

A reading from the holy Gospel according to Luke

Your redemption is near at hand.

Jesus said to his disciples: ‘There will be signs in the sun and moon and stars; on earth nations in agony, bewildered by the clamour of the ocean and its waves; men dying of fear as they await what menaces the world, for the powers of heaven will be shaken. And then they will see the Son of Man coming in a cloud with power and great glory. When these things begin to take place, stand erect, hold your heads high, because your liberation is near at hand.’

‘Watch yourselves, or your hearts will be coarsened with debauchery and drunkenness and the cares of life, and that day will be sprung on you suddenly, like a trap. For it will come down on every living man on the face of the earth. Stay awake, praying at all times for the strength to survive all that is going to happen, and to stand with confidence before the Son of Man.’

Communion Antiphon

Ps 84:13

The Lord will bestow his bounty, and our earth shall yield its increase.

Dear Friends,

Today, the First Sunday of Advent (Year 'C') we begin a new liturgical year. We are given the opportunity during the Advent Season – a short joyful and yet penitential period – in order for us to take stock of our lives as members of Christ's Kingdom and rectify any elements in our lives that prevent us from attaining the values of the Kingdom: Truth, Life, Holiness, Grace, Peace, Justice and Love in order for us to welcome the Prince of Peace at Christmas. We have a further reminder of the values central to our Christian faith in the Advent wreath candles. Each week we light candles that respectively ask us to focus on the values of Hope, Peace, Joy and Love.

Within all this we need to realise that Advent seems to come at a most inconvenient time. Most elements in our society are entering into a shutdown mode: major school exams are over; schools are looking at closing for the summer break. Workers are in anticipation of the Christmas holidays. There is a growing sense of urgency regarding the buying of gifts, food for Christmas lunch and the like. I often feel a little short-changed during Advent/Christmas period, as it seems to be over before I can get into it! This season has from its inception been presented as a period of reflection and preparation for Christmas. All of this can leave us with precious little time for reflection on the true meaning not only of Advent but also of the Christmas mystery. One aspect of the Advent season which can assist us in this reflection comes from the Scripture readings for the Sundays of Advent. The readings for this first Sunday of Advent [Jeremiah 33:14-16; 1 Thessalonians 3:12-4:2; Luke 21:25-28.34-36] speak to us of our redemption – our being saved from the effects of the Evil One. Jeremiah states that a 'virtuous Branch will grow for David...that Israel will dwell in confidence.' The Gospel extract, which seems to dwell on the end times, as it speaks of the heavens being shaken, nations living in agony and bewilderment and people dying of fear, challenges us to live in the confidence; to stay awake and be alert – all because our liberation is near at hand.

Today's liturgy then challenges us to live an 'Advent way of life'. It exhorts us to live in such a way as to wait joyfully and hopefully for the coming of our Saviour Jesus Christ. It further challenges us to see that this waiting is not simply a passive period given to anticipation. An Advent way of life is rather one of living an active type of discipline. The elements of this Advent way of life are pointed out in our second reading from the Paul's First letter to the Thessalonians: to be generous in increasing our love; to conform our hearts in holiness; to be blameless in the sight of God; to make progress in the kind of life we were meant to live; to not forget the instruction that has been given to us through the authority of Jesus Christ. An Advent way of life challenges us to allow these aspects to grow strong in our lives. The early Christian writers would urge us to consider that if we wished to allow God to reign in our hearts then on no circumstances are we to allow sin to be present in our hearts.

Advent with its gentle but firm penitential feel allows us to look at ways in which we can live blameless (sinless) lives; to make progress in our spiritual lives, especially in the aspect of love and holiness. All this allows us to prepare deeply for the coming of Christ at Christmas and to be able to continue to live Christ like lives through the year.
